

Week 10: All Things New

Revelation 21 & 22 don't show us the end of the world, but a renewed one. A world where heaven comes down, the curse is reversed, and God's presence fills the earth. These final chapters unveil a garden-city where the Tree of Life flourishes, and every tear is wiped away. The question they leave us with is deeply personal: Will you be there? If yes, then you have every reason to live with heart-filled hope. If not, then you still have an invitation. The Lamb's Book of Life is not yet closed.

Discussion Questions:

1. Read Revelation 21:1-8. The word, new, in Greek is kainos, meaning "new in nature or quality." What does that reveal about God's plan for the future? How does the reaffirm or reshape your view of heaven?
2. What emotions does Revelation 21:4 stir in you? Is there a particular wound, grief, or loss you long to see healed in the new creation?
3. Revelation 22:3 says, "There will no longer be any curse." How have you felt the weight of the curse in your life? What do you most look forward to in a new creation without the curse?
4. The Tree of Life reappears. Why is that significant? How does it connect to the overall story of Scripture?
5. Why is the Lamb so central to the final vision of Revelation? How should that shape our worship, our trust, and our obedience today?
6. What do you think it will be like to "see His face" (22:4)? How does that stir your worship or desire for God now?
7. As you reflect on our journey through Revelation, what's your biggest theological or spiritual insight? Has your view of God, the world, or your calling shifted in any way?
